

Exercise #5

Finding Information on a Subject

In this exercise you will think about and discuss Google options and resources for finding information on broad, general subjects.

Instructions: Group brainstorming. You are not expected to write anything down. How would you approach Google to answer each of the following questions?

0. How can I find some good collections of links and information on migraine headaches?

0. I want to find websites directing me to good places for bird watching in Northern California.

0. Where can I find blogs about California and other public libraries – use of blogs in libraries, blogs to keep in touch with other librarians and libraries in the state and how they're using blogs?

0. Where can I find debates, from a wide range of perspectives, about what constitutes a near-death experience? I'm interested in proofs that what people report can be believed.

0. What is the birthplace of Teddy Roosevelt?

0. What is the size of California?

0. What is the currency of Nepal and how much of it could $100 buy on January 15, 2004?
