

Exercise #1

Learn a Database

In this exercise you will find the essential information about a library database you need to know before you can share it with users.

PART I

Select a database that contains articles from magazines, newspapers, or journals. If possible, choose a database that you have used before and with which you feel somewhat comfortable. Then complete a “Learn a Database” form from your packet.

PART II

Using your completed “Learn a Database” form, choose three things about the database that would be helpful for a user to know and write those facts below.

Database Facts:

- 1)
- 2)
- 3)
