Exercise # 1

Read a Board Book to a Group

In this exercise you will practice reading a board book aloud and answer questions to assess your performance.

Instructions: Break into groups of four or five people, and take turns reading aloud a board book to the group. Try to emulate holding the book as modeled earlier in the Storytime demonstration. If anyone did not bring a book, just borrow one and use it. Once you've read your book aloud, answer the questions below.

1. Did you announce the book's title and author, or make other comments to introduce the book?

2. How do you hold a book so the audience can see the illustrations?

3. Do you feel like you are reading too quickly, or too slowly?

4. Do you think everyone in the group could hear you?

Storytime Fundamentals Spring 2007 - This material has been created by Penny Peck for the Infopeople Project [infopeople.org], supported by the U.S. Institute of Museum and Library Services under the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act, administered in California by the State Librarian. Any use of this material should credit the author and funding source.