Exercise #4
Flickr and Blip.tv Exploration

Explore Web 2.0 tools in order to see how they may be applied to training needs.

Instructions: Choose either Flickr or Blip.tv to explore on your own. Use the class bookmark file to locate the URLs of the tools. While you are looking at the tool of your choice be sure to consider the following:

A. Is the tool intuitive; is it easy for a novice to use and understand?

B. Would the tool require a download, installation, a domain, or special technical support from your IT staff?

C. Are there different privacy settings or publication options when using this tool?

D. What are some of the drawbacks to using this tool?

E. If you finish early, explore another tool on the list.

Using Web 2.0 Tools for Staff Training Winter 2007/08 - This material has been created by Michelle Boule for the Infopeople Project [infopeople.org], supported by the U.S. Institute of Museum and Library Services under the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act, administered in California by the State Librarian. Any use of this material should credit the author and funding source.