

Ebooks Publicity Ideas

Links on your website

Books online anytime!

Flyers

Like Ebooks?
So do we?

The library has hundreds of Ebooks available for check-out—even when the library is closed!

Visit our website:

<http://www.library.org/ebooks>

Are all the copies of Tom Sawyer checked out and your book report
is due tomorrow?

No problem!

Try our online Ebooks!

<http://www.library.org/ebooks>

Bookmarks

Ebooks

Free Online
Anytime

<http://www.library.org/ebooks>

Brought to you by your local library

Press Release/Newsletter Blurb

The Library is embarking upon an exciting new technological adventure—and we'd like you to help us share the news! XXX Library recently purchased a collection of Ebooks. This collection includes best-selling authors like Steven King, David Baldacci, Janet Evanovich, and more. The collection also includes MP3 audio books, available for download onto portable MP3 players. We even have a collection of children's animated e-storybooks! Best of all, each and every one of these Ebooks is completely free for anyone with a library card. You can access these books from home, from school, from work, or in the library! All you need is your library card.

To access any of these Ebooks, just go to the library's website at <http://www.library.org/ebooks>

If you have any questions, feel free to ask our e-Services Librarian, Jane Doe, who can be reached at 555-555-1212 or jane.doe@library.org.

Ebooks Update, November 2004 – Produced by Sarah Houghton for the Infopeople Project [<http://infopeople.org/>], supported by the U.S. Institute of Museum and Library Services under the provisions of the Library Services and Technology Act, administered in California by the State Librarian.