

Q&A Session for Libraries in a Post-Print World

Session Number: 572359441

Date: 2011-9-13

Starting time: 08:31

!Sandy Newell(snewell@dos.state.fl.us) - 12:17

Q: It is what people do with our collection --not just the fact that they walk out the door with an item. It is the fact that libraries do transform --but how to capture the transformation --that is the challenge!!!

Priority: N/A!

!T. Gheen(tgheen@nsf.gov) - 12:30

Q: How do we get vendors to work with us? To offer us access models that a) work for our patron base and b) are affordable? We have been working with a vendor of technical books, but they only offer a named user model to our library or an open model we

Q: cannot afford.

Priority: N/A!

!Marianne Kranz(marianne.kranz@mainlib.org) - 12:30

Q: You do not mean that we will be viable without books, don't you mean without PRINTED books?

Priority: N/A!

!Marianne Kranz(marianne.kranz@mainlib.org) - 12:32

Q: Once again, don't you mean no printed books scenario?

Priority: N/A!

!Andrew Sherman(andrew.sherman65@gmail.com) - 12:38

Q: Job searching is good example. I can't help someone with every online application. I try to teach the person the best practices like cut & paste from their references and resume.

Q&A Session for Libraries in a Post-Print World

Q: RE: Concurrent usage - is it possible to receive all 25 uses of a (popular) book at once & time it is checked out, 1 usage is ticked off, when the book is down to say 5 uses, then evaluate a re-order. Is there a flaw in this logic?

Priority: N/A!

!Jurate Burns(jburns@cityofdestin.com) - 13:01

Q: Great information!

Priority: N/A!

!Richard Mott(rmott@coj.net) - 13:00

Q: I want more! Any chance of a bibliography of articles , posts, etc. that expand on individual concepts?
