Q&A Session for When Webinars Attack!: Getting from Tedious to Terrific

Session number: 571528550
Date: Thursday, June 07, 2012
Starting time: 11:02 AM

_____

!Teresa Doherty (mtdohert@vcu.edu) - 11:56 AM
Q: greetings from Richmond Virginia
Priority: N/A!
　　!Infopeople Project!! - 12:00 PM
　　A: Hi!

_____

!Kate Holmes (kholmes@coj.net) - 12:17 PM
Q: Good point!
Priority: N/A!
　　!Infopeople Project!! - 12:18 PM
　　A: Sure is!

_____

!Suzanne Beattie (suzanne.m.beattie@kp.org) - 12:20 PM
Q: Will Laura cover image resources? ie. where these "tedTalk" type of images can be found ? and whether they are copyrighted or not?
Priority: N/A!
　　!eileen oshea!! - 12:26 PM
　　A: We use iStock Photos for copyright-free images: http://www.istockphoto.com/
Nice, wide selection!

_____

!Beth Willis (beth@mlnc.org) - 12:21 PM
Q: Shouldn't your webinar description provide people with an idea of what the topic is and level of knowlegde to be transmitted? (e.g. "An introduction to ... ")
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Beth Willis (beth@mlnc.org) - 12:22 PM
Q: I mean when it comes to knowing your audience.
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Elizabeth Knefel (eknefelsd@yahoo.com) - 12:28 PM
Q: I AGREE!!!!
Priority: N/A!

_____

Q&A Session for When Webinars Attack!: Getting from Tedious to Terrific

!Robin Hartman (rhartman@hiu.edu) - 12:29 PM
Q: I find it helpful to have bullet points on my slides if I am giving handouts in person.
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Kristin Martin (kmarti@uic.edu) - 12:29 PM
Q: When we do webinars, people always do want copies of the slides afterwards, to help remind them what is covered. How do you balance between reading too much on the slides, or not providing enough info on the slides?
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Kristin Martin (kmarti@uic.edu) - 12:31 PM
Q: that's fine
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Robin Hartman (rhartman@hiu.edu) - 12:31 PM
Q: As a participant, I use handouts to take notes and remind myself of points afterwards.
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Deborah Lammers (dlammers@henrico.lib.va.us) - 12:33 PM
Q: Ahhh! West Virginia and Virginia: not the same!
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Sue Atherton (athertsh@ah.org) - 12:37 PM
Q: Are there humorous pictures available online that you can add to presentations without violating copyright?
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Eve Melton (eve.o.melton@kp.org) - 12:39 PM
Q: Stock exchange - http://www.sxc.hu/
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Teresa Doherty (mtdohert@vcu.edu) - 12:39 PM
Q: any suggestions for webinars using more than one presenter? (we've got 4 on ours!)
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Sue Atherton (athertsh@ah.org) - 12:39 PM
Q: thanks

Q&A Session for When Webinars Attack!: Getting from Tedious to Terrific

Priority: N/A!

_____

!Teresa Doherty (mtdohert@vcu.edu) - 12:40 PM
Q: we've done this in person 3 times already, so we've got some practice
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Chuck OShea (chuck@oshea.net) - 12:41 PM
Q: from Antonio DeRosa to All Participants:
In regard to engaging participants, what if you're giving a webinar to a small group? Is it silly to poll only 2 people, for instance?
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Kristin Martin (kmarti@uic.edu) - 12:51 PM
Q: any special tips for presenting an in-person presentation that is also broadcast as a webinar?
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Sue Atherton (athertsh@ah.org) - 12:56 PM
Q: Thank you so much!
Priority: N/A!

_____

!Deborah Lammers (dlammers@henrico.lib.va.us) - 12:57 PM
Q: Thanks.
Priority: N/A!