

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

Joanna:London Public Library is here (Ontario Canada)

Nora Robillard:Nora in Atlanta here.

Andrea:Andrea from Paris, France is here

Joy W:Joy from Sunnyvale Public Library

Daria Bossman (SD):Daria Bossman in sunny (snowy) South Dakota is here.

Kim Taylor:Emil M. Larson Public Library in Clark, SD here

Jeff Takao, El Sobrante library:jt in El Sobrante, CA

Chris Doi:Christopher Doi from Berkeley, CA.

Izabela Cieszynski:like tthe music

Anne Conway:+Anne Conway from Rancho cordova CA

Kathy:Kathy in Billings, MT

Susan Riley:Susan from Mamaroneck NY here!

Carolyn Crawford:Carolyn from Georgia

Marion:Marion in Columbia TN

Kate:Sacramento Public Library here

YiPing Wang:YiPing from San Jose, CA

Alexis Brodie - SCPL:Alexis from Santa Clarita, CA

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

Gail Marsh:Gail from Lexington, NC

Tiffany Mair:Hi from the State Library in Sacramento

Lboston:Hello from rainy Washington state

Katy Hoffler:Katy Hoffler in Raleigh, NC

Roger Hiles:Greetings from sunny Arcadia, CA

Tamiko W:Hello from Los Angeles!

Pam:Hi from Edmonton Public Library (Alberta Canada), where it is still winter.

Ann:Ann from Portland

Leizel:Hi from San Jose

Nora Robillard:Jealous of you Ann!

Gretchen Pruet:Gretchen Pruet, New Braunfels Texas

Andrea:it is nine PM here

andrew:andrew from OH

adangelo:Hi! Alyssa from Gaffney, SC.

kim brown:HI from the State Library in sunny Sacramento

Lisa:Lisa from Minnesota

Parsons:hello from Kansas

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

Michele Fenton:Hello from Indianapolis

Tami:hello from texas

Infopeople Project:You can dowlaod a copy of David's slides at:
<https://infopeople.org/civicrm/event/info?reset=1&id=550>

andrew:thanks

Daniel Cornwall:Hello from Juneau Alaska - Alaska State Library

Alexis Brodie - SCPL:We have a makerspace with a 3-D printer at our library. Just had our open house last month for it.

andrew:Fayetteville in what state?

YiPing Wang:Great Alexis! We are getting our 3D printer and the space will be available soon and open to students

andrew:thanks

Rob Lang:Hello from Schenectady, NY

Robyn Godfrey:Still winter here in Stratford, Ontario...

Infopeople Project:<http://www.fflib.org/>

Joy W:Sunnyvale Public in CA has welcomed the community to use our 3D printer for close to 2.5 years. 3Dprinting.insunnyvale.com

Joy W:we keep the printer behind our info desk

Kate:Sacramento Public Library has a Makerspace and a Library of Things. <http://www.saclibrary.org/services/3d-printing-lab/>

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

Joanna:What's a vinyl cutter used for?

Robyn Godfrey:LOVE Libraries of Things!

Alexis Brodie - SCPL:Ours is kept in our literacy room which is always locked unless there is a program.

Pam:Laser cutter example from EPL:

<https://www.instagram.com/p/6ASolJoMFj/?taken-by=pamryanlibrarian>

Pam:Sorry, vinyl cutter example...

Beth:Attending late from Kearney, Nebraska

hailey roberts:Meridian Library District's technology center has many of the tools mentioned here. check it out at mldunbound.org

Nora Robillard:Anyone with digital media labs...did you have to retrofit soundproofing panels?

Robert:What about copyright between making dvd copies of vhs?

Kate:In Sacramento Library of things you can check out Go Pro cameras, drawing tablets, and screen printing kits

Nora Robillard:see the soundproofing here but did not see any in previous slides.

Lboston:Are libraries doing anything to encourage conversations between people in the shared space?

Joanna:We have an enormous colouring sheet on a table that attracts lots of people and conversation

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

John:kate, you have a link for all that?

John:or your contact info?

Kate:My fiance is a freelance editor/ journalist taht works at a co-working space. It is great because everyone shares what is working or not for them as a freelancer. They also are able to share clients if someone has a skill they do not possess

Lboston:What about people willing to share their skills, what they learned, looking for others with knowledge about XYZ?

Arletha:for those that have maker spaces already, how did you handle patrons that were not technically savvy?

Kate:Here you go John: <http://www.saclibrary.org/Services/Library-of-Things/>

Robert:Do they charge for making the books?

John:Thank you!

andrew:in cincy they charge to print books

John:we have a seed library

John:<http://santaclaraca.gov/government/departments/library/research-resources/sustainable-u/santa-clara-seed-share>

Lisa:First began in Minnesota!

Nora Robillard:my neighborhood (and a lot of neighborhoods in my area) has a Free Library. Love it!

Sheri D:We have several Little Free Libraries here.

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

Parsons:Parsons has a once a week coloring group. They meet weekly and we supply everything and they LOVE it!

Joanna:Here too. One girl got a neighbourhood grant to put one on her lawn (and there's a light in it!)

Lboston:so its Make it here, then SHow and Tell...

John:we use square stands attached to cash drawers to accept payments, worked out really really well.

Andrea:don't really think Little Free Libraries would work here in France

Mary Augugliaro:<https://squareup.com/>

John:square is wonderful.. finally take credit card at the desk

Alexis Brodie - SCPL:The author I PA for and many of the authors I see at book signings use paypal or square. Very handy and will still work even if there is no WiFi

Kate:I recently had a wedding photgrapher try to sell me on having a drone film my wedding

Parsons:We had a drones workshop and people were fascinated with it. Older ones more than our youth.

Infopeople Project:Love my 3DR Solo

Nora Robillard:Went to a surveying conference several weeks ago and saw how drones are now being used in surveying. Very interesting!

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

hailey roberts:Also useful to inform interested patrons of laws and registration governing ownership and operation of drones.

John:great idea Hailey, that's a program right there hailey roberts:Got one in the works for my library in May ;)

Jeff Takao, El Sobrante library:Love the library computer in that picture still using Windows XP...

Jerry:Web sites nowadays seem geared more to digital devices vs. desktop computers.

High Point Public Library:I live Check it out!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

High Point Public Library:*love

John:XP! long live sp

Infopeople Project:Nice video:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lfNfnL64rOQ>

andrew:thanks gotta go!

Joanna:Thank you! (Back to the reference desk)

Nora Robillard:No

Parsons:Thanks! Got some good ideas!

Kim Taylor:Thank you for the great information.

Lboston: How do you get management to approve the cost of these inventive or temporary things?

Emerging Tech Trends in Libraries - Part 3

March 1, 2016

Leizel:Thank you! Found this very interesting and useful

Andrea:very vhelpful and inspiring presentation

Alexis Brodie - SCPL 2:Thank you David! Very interesting information

Anne Conway:Anne: Thanks--it was good.

Nora Robillard:Thank you for the info.

Kim Taylor:Do most libraries with Maker Spaces charge patrons for using the materials re: 3D printing?

Lboston:thanks

Arletha:great presentation!

Angela:Thanks!

Kathy:We charge $1 per hour for 3D printing.

Ashley Nunes 2:thank you!

Kim Taylor:Thank you, Kathy

Michele Fenton:Thanks! Great Presentation!

YiPing Wang:thank you